Workshops at The Kit:
Christopher Marlowe And His World

Workshops at The Kit: Christopher Marlowe And His World

We are delighted to offer this new tailored learning experience for young people in the unique setting of The Marlowe Kit which provides exciting ways to learn about Canterbury's rich literary heritage.

Workshops At The Kit: Christopher Marlowe And His World is an innovative programme of cross-curricular activities for primary and secondary schools, to engage, educate and inspire both students and teachers.

The Kit is named after the famous Canterbury-born playwright, Christopher Marlowe (known as Kit), who lived a life full of intrigue and incident during England's Elizabethan age, and was a contemporary of Shakespeare.

Supporting Literacy across the curriculum through purposeful written and performed outcomes, our workshop experience aims to develop curiosity and creativity in learners.

The programme covers a range of themes which can be tailored to suit you and your students' needs. The programme promotes applied learning through a variety of workshops presented in different formats, to inspire work beyond the classroom.
